HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his establishment.
Carriage Factory,
Cor. of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

Frightful Accident at the Indiana State Fair.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—A terrible accident occurred at the State Fair grounds at six o'clock this evening. A steam boiler exploded, and there being an immense crowd on the ground at the time, it is difficult to get the particulars; but it is known that twelve persons were instantly killed and probably one hundred wounded. Further particulars of the accident at the Fair grounds say nineteen persons have been killed and about one hundred wounded. The engine was attached to a saw mill and had been fired up for test with another machine. Governor Baker narrowly escaped serious injury by a fragment which passed over his head and dangerously wounded his coachman. Several corpses are defaced beyond recognition. There is great excitement and feeling in this city over the event.

The Prosperity of the Country.

[From the Springfield Republican.]

The fallacy of the cry that, in the United States "the rich are growing richer and the poor poorer," always strongly suspected, now begins to appear so plainly, that few honest observers will be deceived by it much longer. Mr. Norton, in his instructive article on the poverty of England, in the July North American, makes the shrewd observation that there is no necessary connection between the two parts of this antithesis. The rich may be growing richer, while the poor are doing so too; and the poor may be growing poorer without affecting the riches of the rich at all. Nobody doubts that the rich are growing richer—it is self-evident, and the income returns and tax lists do but register the fact which we know in other ways. But the poor are not growing poorer—take the country through—and we doubt if they are anywhere except in a few of the large cities. And, even there, it is but a small fraction of the poor who are growing poorer. Our statistics show as we have several times pointed out, that, in spite of the increase of population in Massachusetts, which is estimated at 100,000 since 1860, the number of paupers in the State is actually growing smaller. In the face of this fact, if we find it constant and not merely casual, it is absurd to say that the poor are growing poorer here; for in two or three years, if it were so, the steady pressure from above, would force hundreds of new cases into the pauper ranks.

Or take the cotton growing States, and see if it can be true there that the whole community is not growing richer. The largest cotton crop ever raised in the South, that of 1860, was about 5,000,000 bales. This year it may not fall short of 3,000,000. But this year the price is about treble what it was in 1860, so that the crop of 1869 should be worth in gold some fifty per cent. more than that of 1860 was. Consequently the cotton States, on a whole, will have more ready money this year, and a better profit in New York than they have ever had. There is ample evidence that a proper share of that ready money goes into the pockets of the laboring poor of the South, who are now in a more comfortable condition than ever they were under slavery.

We are glad to learn that the views which we express are similar to what Secretary Boutwell has reached by researches in his own town of Groton. While spending the summer at home, we understand that he has been making careful inquiries into the pecuniary condition of his poorer townsmen and finds that they live better, have fewer mortgages, and more money in the savings bank, than they did before the war. There is no reason the same should not be true of all the rural towns of Massachusetts, and it very probably is. That there should be distress in some regions is natural enough, but there is every reason to believe that the general condition of the poor throughout the land has been steadily improving since the close of the war.

Other indications of our prosperity are found in the appreciation of Government securities and the steady demand for them in Europe; the increase of our stock of gold, the general abundance of the year's crops; the briskness of the fall trade, the increase of railroad travel and transportation, the constant incoming of European emigrants, and the general activity of all branches of business. We have evils and dangers enough to encounter, but lack of material prosperity is not one of them.

Postmaster Cony says that the Postmaster-General has ordered that a contract be made with the California Pacific Railroad Company for carrying the mail on the route from San Francisco to Sacramento and back, twice daily, leaving all intermediate points between Vallejo and Sacramento once a day, with a branch service from Davisville, by Woodland to Knight's Landing and back, daily.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

Highly Important from Washington!

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Colored men entered the dress circle of the National Theatre to-night and refused to withdraw except upon compulsion. They finally got an order from the officers to leave which they did, no physical force being used. It is supposed the question of the rights of negroes under the recent corporation laws relating to places of amusement will be tested.

Cuban Affairs.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The steamer Europe with arms and ammunition for the Spanish authorities of Cuba has been released from government surveillance and has probably gone to sea. The Hornet is said to have left Montauk Point on Wednesday for Cuban waters. Marshal Barlow denied that the Alabama carried any Cuban filibusters from this port.

The Cokleford defeated the Haymakers Base Ball Club yesterday.

Illness of Ex-President Pierce.

CONCORD, Oct. 2.—Ex-President Pierce has been very ill for some weeks. His physicians pronounce him very low. The disease assumed a dropsical form, and his recovery is considered doubtful.

Boston Dispatch.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—The Boston, Hartford & Erie Railroad Company have purchased the wharf frontage on Broad and Federal streets for near three million dollars.

Governor Clayton has issued an order for an election in the Seventh Congressional District at the same time as the State election.

National Capitol Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—Governor Senter informs the committee here that Tennessee will be represented at the National Capitol Convention to be held here October 20th. This makes ten States to be represented.

A "World" Story.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The World gives a reported opinion expressed by A. T. Stewart, adverse to Bootwell's policy of selling gold and purchasing bonds with the proceeds. He says it will never lead to specie payment. The purchase of bonds gives speculators the means to carry on speculation. This policy is unquestionably of great benefit to those with no means of their own, while the solvent men will entirely oppose this policy.

Texas Affairs.

GALVESTON, Oct. 2.—Provisional Gov. Pease sent in his resignation yesterday. He will take the stump for Hamilton. The action of General Reynolds and the administration regarding Texas affairs will cause twenty more Republican speakers to take the field for the Hamilton ticket. Preparations are being made for a grand Hamiltonian demonstration to-morrow.

No Democratic Party in Texas.

GALVESTON, Oct. 3.—It is stated that the recent so-called Democratic convention at Brenham consisted of five editors. The Democratic party in Texas has no sympathy with this sort of [illegible].

The Explosion at Indianapolis.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—The scene at the Indianapolis Fair Grounds yesterday has cast a gloom over the entire city of Indianapolis. The explosion occurred a few minutes before 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the grounds were covered with people. The boiler attached to a portable sawmill had just been fired up for test of [illegible] with another machine. So far as ascertained 19 persons were killed. The excitement and confusion is so great that it is impossible to obtain a correct list of the wounded, but it is thought the number will reach 100. May bodies are terribly mutilated and burned so that it will be difficult to recognize the remains. Many of the most severely wounded were conveyed to the Indiana Surgical Institute, the proprietors of which tendered the use of the institute for the wounded and have been untiring in their efforts to alleviate suffering. A gentleman and lady were walking together; the gentleman was killed, the lady unhurt. Of a mother and three children the mother was killed, two children badly scalded, but the youngest son unhurt. Several wounded have probably died. A coroner's inquest will be held to-day.

The International Industrial Exposition.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The committee of 15 heretofore appointed to prepare the outline of a plan for the International Industrial Exhibition, held a meeting last night. Resolutions were adopted declaring it practicable to hold such exposition in 1871, and that proper measures be taken to make it successful. A committee of three were appointed to prepare a charter to be presented to Congress for enactment. It was recommended that a National Exposition Committee be appointed, consisting of the President, Vice President, Chief Justice Chase, heads of Executive Departments, Governors of the several States and Territories, and Mayors of Principal cities. Also a local Executive Committee of ten for the District of Columbia, to which shall be added the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Commissioner of Patents and Commissioner of Agriculture. A committee was appointed to wait on the President and invite him to act as Chairman ex officio of the local committee. Other committees will be appointed. It is proposed to establish a capital stock of $100,000, in shares of $50 each.

Disturbances in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—A serious disturbance occurred at 10½ o'clock last night. The Republican Invincible club attacked the Keystone club (Democratic), while marching past the Invincibles' headquarters. An affray occurred just opposite Mayor's office. Fifteen or twenty persons were injured, including two or three policemen, who were trying to quell the disturbance. A Republican meeting held at the corner of Market and Twentieth streets, was the scene of a riot from the commencement. An attack was made at the meeting, the stand was broken up and speakers beaten with clubs. A message was sent to the police station for protection for those holding the meeting, which was flatly refused.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Four persons were wounded in the riot between the Invincibles and the Keystone Club.

Boston Horse Trots.

BOSTON, Oct. 4.—The National horse fair at the Park closed yesterday. The feature of the day was a trot for $3,000 for all horses. Lady Thorpe, Goldsmith Maid, Geo. Palmer and American Girl entered. Lady Thorpe, although lame, won in three straight heats, Goldsmith Maid taking the second winning. Time, 2:23¼, 2:20¼, and 2:20.

The McGarrahan Case Again.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—A Tribune Washington special says the case of McGarrahan against the Republican and Express newspapers of Washington City, in action for libel, in charging that the plaintiff's action before Congress, for grant lands in California was a swindle. Notice of trial has been served for the next term of court, commencing on the third Wednesday in October. Richard Merrick is for the plaintiff, Wm. M. Evarts is for the Republican and R. R. Elliott for the Express. Both sides expect to open an exceedingly rich chapter in the Washington lobby.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Consul General Plumb writes from Havana that the Spanish authorities are constantly violating the mails to and from this country and anticipates the virtual suspension of mail facilities.

The Public Printer has issued a circular to employees of the Government printing office not to be controlled in any respect by the Typographical Union in its demand that copyholders should be printers.

The total number of passengers arrived in the United States for the year ending June 30th, was 388,551. Actual emigrants intending to remain, 352,565; of these 132,527 are Germans, 6,286 from Great Britain, 64,938 Irish, 24,394 Swedes, and 12,874 Chinese.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Four steam fire engines are stationed on the East and North rivers to supply cars with water for sprinkling streets, Croton is so low.

LAWRENCE, Oct. 2.—Graham, the witness against Reddy has returned from Canada. Reddy will probably be speedily tried. The newspapers of the Gold Exchange Bank think they will be able to show on Monday that a receiver is not needed in their affairs, and they will soon resume business.

The Indianapolis Tragedy.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—The latest from Indianapolis gives the number of killed at 27, wounded, 36—the wounded doubtless exceed that number. Many of the wounded were taken immediately home. No reports have been made of the most dangerously wounded who were taken into the Indianapolis Surgical Institute.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Right Rev. Samuel Wilgrove, Bishop of Carlisle, died to-day, aged fifty-three years.

In view of the complication between the United States and Spain, the provisional government has dispatched a vessel of war to the Antilles.

The Saturday Review has an article on the relations between Spain and the United States. The writer says that the announcement that the Washington Government approves the commutation of Sickles to the Spanish Government is only partially intelligible as long as the terms of that dispatch is unknown. Be also is the announcement of that American intervention was only prompted by humanity. It is certain Spaniards consider that the subjects concerns themselves alone. Referring to Senator Sumner, the same paper says that the American statesman in publicly speaking of the dismemberment of the British Empire, was probably not aware that he said unkind things.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—Despatches announce the arrival of the Emperor at Vichy.

Ministers have decided to convoke the Chambers November 8th.

It is said that four Ministers will resign.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Advices from Buenos Ayres says that Lopez in evacuating Asuncion destroyed everything during the pursuit. Thirty thousand allies attacked three thousand Paraguayans. The latter fought desperately, the engagement lasting six hours. The Paraguayans lost 250 and all their archives and specie.

NEVADA.

Elko Dispatch.

ELKO, Oct. 1.—Parties just in from Cope mining district report very favorably of that district. Mountain City, the principal camp, has now about 600 people, a great many of whom are from Idaho district. Another strike is very good. Large lots of freight are leaving here daily for that point.

The train going east to-day, passed here four hours late. Among the passengers were Schuyler Dolley and party, and several prominent eastern merchants.

The weather during the day is quite warm, while ice forms every night.

Virginia City Dots.

VIRGINIA CITY, Oct. 2.—Laying track on the Virginia and Truckee railroad at the Carson end is going ahead rapidly.

A large work building used as a warehouse for patterns at McCone's foundry, Silver City, was entirely destroyed, with its contents, by fire last night. Loss, $4,000; insured $1,500.

Gold Gambling

The telegraph advised us a few days ago that the money jobbers of New York were advancing in force on Washington for the purpose of interceding with the President to make changes in Boutwell's policy of selling gold and to order the sales in accordance with the wishes and plans of the speculators themselves As nothing more has been heard of the movement we may take it for granted that the delegation met with a rather chilling reception at the White House. The sales of gold will, no doubt go on as usual And the gold gamblers, if they will indulge in games of hazard, must take the chances and accept the consequences The fluctuations of the gold market, as a California contemporary observes, are almost wholly artificial It is a speculation for which the Government has no responsibility It is the work of private individuals seeking their private gain at the public expense The true way to deal with them personally, doubtless is by criminal prosecution for conspiracy against the public peace and against the interests of trade and commerce They can plead no public exigency and no general alarm to justify their acts They are not acting for self-protection, but are attacking, knowingly and by combination the public interests. In short, the whole thing is artificial and should be so treated Ought the Treasury in such a case to join in the speculation? The attempt would generally be futile Down tumbles the price the moment it is touched Is it not, then the true policy of the Treasury to assure legitimate business, that its real wants will be supplied at proper rates, regardless of speculative prices? That it will keep business steady, and leave to the speculators all the risks of their perilous game "

This is good doctrine Some of the speculators are said to have been ruined by recent operations If they were all bankrupted it would be so much the better They are as truly conspirators against the public interests as if they were engaged in organized robbery It is gratifying that Secretary Boutwell has firmly refused to be drawn into their schemes The business of the Treasury should be conducted in a legitimate manner, without reference to the desires of the gold gamblers They are the very last persons who should be allowed to dictate its policy If they had the Treasury at their command there would be positively no limit to their extortionate transactions. The administration could hardly do a thing which would so shake public confidence in it, as to yield to the demands which the speculators have made

Yet the opposition press are loudly condemning the administration for the course it has pursued in keeping clear of these speculations and entanglements But their censure is feeble indeed compared with what it would have been had the opposite course been taken Had Boutwell been drawn into these schemes their indignation would have known no bounds Then we should have been told that the Treasury was conducted in the interest of unprincipled money grabbers, and thieving speculators But as it is, being compelled by long habit to find fault with everything that is done by a Republican administration, they take sides with the gold gamblers, pity the misfortunes of such beauties as Jim Fisk who have lost money by their own really operations, and assail Secretary Boutwell for not coming at once to the relief of those who were getting fleeced at their own game. This well illustrates the general spirit of the opposition party. It is the malignant spirit of bitter faction, which is ready to take any side of a question for partisan purposes not the calm spirit of impartial criticism which administers for the public good, and wins respect by its good temper and sound judgment

Another Visitor's Opinion of Oregon

E. W. Raymond, United States Commissioner of Mines, who was here last August has written to the Engineering and Mining Journal of New York an excellent letter on Oregon He shows so clear an appreciation of our State that we cannot refrain from quoting liberally from his letter. He tell us that so soon as he came into Oregon he "felt a familiarity with the beauty of Nature which California does not inspire" California, he says, "should be either tropical or temperate but is neither,"—while of Oregon he remarks

The climate is delicious in summer—balmy, not oppressive—and in winter it is disagreeably wet and sloshy. It is said to be unhealthy for persons predisposed to pulmonary complaints though not more so than New England I do believe, from what I have seen of the State that this alleged insalubrity is at all inherent in the climate, except so far as it is always dangerous for persons of weak lungs to go into a new country where, for a part of the year, the ground is wet. It is certain that they will, sooner or later expose themselves. Houses, too, are not always built on good dry ground. This matter is an important one in Oregon, and the Massachusetts Committee have shown that most, if not all of the "hereditary" consumption of New England families is caused by their damp old farm houses and "hereditary" to those children only who live in them

Mr Raymond, in comparing Oregon and California, grows quite practical He says "California is your amber blonde, passionate, proud, and slightly mysterious, Oregon is more like your sweet, steady going, charming, and easily comprehensible beauty that marries the first wooer, and loves him faithfully always" Dropping this simile he proceeds to say in plain prose that —

The uniformity of Oregon climate, as regards agriculture, is something wonderful Such a thing as the failure of a crop has never been known. Even the almost unexampled drought of the present year, which has completely ruined placer mining for the season, seems only to affect, in the Willamette valley, the crops planted in the spring, to the the extent of perhaps one third Forty bushels of wheat to the acre or sixty of oats, can well afford to be reduced one third especially as the price is likely to advance in consequence

Of the products of our State he remarks

Oregon flour (a good deal of it credited by the uninformed to California through which State it has been transported) commands high prices all over the East for its remarkably fine qualities The bread made from it cannot be excelled Oregon horses are in demand all over the coast on account of their size and strength Oregon beef cattle and sheep are driven to Idaho Montana and Nevada, where they find ready sale Oregon iron is as good as it is abundant Oregon coal (from Coos Bay) is acknowledged to be of excellent quality Oregon prunes world known Oregon apples and potatoes are good enough, but over-praised Oregon dairies—so far as my observation goes—make very poor butter out of very good cream Oregon woollen manufactures especially blankets, are as good as those of the Mission Dolores at San Francisco which is superlative praise Oregon land is easily acquired and free from the vexatious doubts and litigations that overhang California titles The system of immense ranchos which has covered California within the last few years, is comparatively unknown here, and both the farmer and the soil will be, in the end the gainers In fine the adventurous emigrant, who follows the voice crying "Westward ho!" will be likely to stop in Oregon for he cannot go farther, nor will he care to go back

The writer states that he was not prepared to say much in this letter about the mineral resources of Oregon He was at work gathering facts But he says this much

I have seen enough however to show that this State is eminently blest in minerals The placer and quartz gold regions of California are continued northward into Oregon, the silver bearing belt of Nevada and Idaho probably also enters this State and on the west there is iron, copper coal and cinnabar in the extension of the coast range Iron and coal the State has an acknowledged superiority over California.

It also came in his his way to make some remarks on the Chinese question which we quote in part

The question of Chinese labor is agitating the public mind here as everywhere on this coast If the attempt to make it a political question is persisted in it will inevitably break up the present parties For it is a question on which members of the same national party will differ Meanwhile the Chinese are coming and cannot be stopped In my opinion the best thing that can be done is to attempt to secure the immigration of the best class of them to discourage wholesale importation of mere coolie labor and to hold out inducements for the natural immigration of enterprising individuals To have heathendom brought straight to us is certainly an unexpected phase of the missionary work but throwing brickbats at the heathen will not secure the victory of Christianity Why not reverse the story of the certain Irishman who tried to make the naughty boy come out of the apple tree and having tried what virtue there is in stones go back to the expedient of "kind words" The programme of the anti Chinese party is still born It was dead before it was ever conceived Discussions of its wisdom or justice are entirely useless in view of its impossibility The mineral development of these States depends upon the labor of Asiatics and their future welfare in every respect depends upon the way in which that labor is treated

This letter shows Mr Raymond to be a careful observer, and such communications as he writes will certainly do much to give a favorable impression of Oregon throughout the Eastern States

Chinese Tax Law of Idaho

The Commercial has an article on the Chinese Tax Law of Idaho and the recent decision of the Territorial Court in a case touching the collection of miners tax from Chinese Following is a portion of the Commercial's article

The case never came to trial upon its merits but was dismissed upon a point of practice Judge Noggle virtually decided the case in favor of the Chinese although the prayer of the complaint was denied on the ground that the action was not properly brought as an ejectment proceeding could not be resorted to in establishing a right where there was a plain remedy at law which the Judge said existed in this case Too action was brought in the Territorial Court of Idaho against the Sheriff of Boise county, by a Chinaman to restrain the sheriff from the collection of the miners tax imposed by the Legislature of that Territory on all Chinamen engaged in mining Judge Noggle denounced the law characterizing it as "burdensome unjust and inquitous" In speaking of the law the Chief Justice says

"These Territorial laws seem to be a branch of California's legal history and of a pernicious system of legislation that certainly is not creditable to American statesmen"

Although the action was dismissed, the effect will be to suspend all further attempts to collect the Chinese miners tax in that Territory, as the Judge plainly intimated that an action for assault, or of trespass on the case, could be maintained against the Sheriff should he persist in attempting to collect the miners' license tax.

We had not seen the opinion of the Court in this case, but had found it stated somewhere in a general way that a decision had been rendered affirming the right of the Territory to collect the tax We are glad to be assured, however, that the Idaho Court did not affirm any such untenable doctrine, and are most willing to do justice to Judge Noggle by making the correction It will be seen that the decision of the Idaho Court is against those Oregon journals which had relied upon it as an authority in favor of specially taxing Chinese The Herald, Enterprise and Democrat will probably not desire to argue this question further

In General

Last month took seven and a half millions off of our national debt Will the spoonheads who have been predicting that the debt never could be paid mark that? Such unprincipled demagogues as Pendleton will, of course, endeavor to meet such a stunning fact as this by flatly denying it.

Rev Dr Marsh of Pacific University Forest Grove, will start East in a day or two on business connected with the welfare and improvement of the institution over which he presides He will probably be absent two months We are informed that he has in view new measures for the benefit of his college, and he is a man who will work at them indefatigably Pacific University has larger patronage, better prospects, and a more thorough corps of instructors, than ever before.

The New York Citizen one of the Democratic papers engaged in the war on the side of the Tammany faction against Belmont arraigns that individual because he is foreign born. The Citizen reminds its readers that Washington, with the whole force of his pure and watchful foresight entreated his countrymen to beware of foreign influence Now it is interesting to inquire what would remain of so-called Democracy in New York city without the 'foreign influence' which this organ of the party condemns?

A very interesting contest has been waging for some time between the Louisville Courier Journal the representative of the progressive portion of the Democratic party in Kentucky and the rural papers, whose editors, from their constant and more intimate intercourse with the people have not yet felt the influences which are naturalizing the Democracy in spite of themselves The Courier Journal thinks that the time has passed when Kentucky can draw all the inspiration of its political action from the resolutions of 98 It concludes that some things have happened in the past and that some things will happen in the future which it will be wise to note It would be useless for that paper to preach this doctrine to the Oregon Democracy

The Herald tells us that it will be able next June to chronicle a great victory by the people of Oregon over the advocates of Chinese immigration" The victory then will be gained over the Southern Democracy for they are the principal advocates of this policy A Republican administration has been compelled to interpose to prevent them from importing coolies contrary to a law passed by a Republican Congress But does the Herald suppose that a Democratic victory in Oregon would operate as the smallest check upon the immigration of those Chinese who come of their own accord Such an event would no more stop them coming than it would stay the rising of the tides that wash our shores Chinese came here years ago when the country was under Democratic control and they would continue to come if the same party should again obtain the ascendant Talk about any civilized nation closing its doors against another people? No nation on earth thinks of such a thing To talk of it is the merest babble

The Sacramento Union, in an article on the recent gold gambling operations in New York presents some very sensible views It says that if the Treasury endeavors to control such operations it runs the risk of failure and after its own resources are exhausted the field is left to the speculators If it merely aims to take advantage of the rise to get a higher price for its own gold, its operations must be so public as to defeat their own object the bubble breaks as soon as touched The moment it is known that the Treasury is selling or about to sell the bulls rear If a Secretary pursues a fixed policy he is accused of apathetic or stupid disregard of public wants Let if he enters the field, some will declaim against him for making the Government a gambler like the rest If he keeps out at least one good result will follow the resources of the Treasury will remain to supply the legitimate wants of business This is well put Boutwell keeps out and disregards the importunities of the gold gamblers

SUPREME COURT From the Statesman of Saturday 2d

Lucretia Beaver respondent vs Christina Mary Beaver appellant J C Hawthorne appellant This was a suit to foreclose a mortgage This was a suit to foreclose a mortgage executed in 1859 by Rose Portland to A B Richardson and a mortgage on the block to secure purchase money executed by Portland to Richardson mortgage was duly recorded, June 20 1859 same day this mortgage was recorded the defendant executed to the complainant a note for $500, payable two years with three per cent per month, and gave a second mortgage on the same premises to secure the last mortgage to Beaver was recorded two days after Richardson mortgage to Beaver was recorded Richardson mortgage to Stephens was recorded 1859 Stephens obtained a decree of foreclosure without making Beaver a party to the suit On this decree the premises were sold and bought in by Stephens which sale was confirmed by the Court Stephens went into possession and afterwards Beaver instituted proceedings against Stephens to redeem his equity of redemption in the premises sold to Stephens Stephens sold the premises to Caldwell who after putting valuable improvements thereon conveyed the same to the appellant, Hawthorne, who also made additional improvements thereon

Beaver claims to be Mortgagee and never paid Richardson the money due to him on the mortgage claiming the right of redemption as a mortgagee claims the right of redemption as a mortgagee and the payment to Richardson was the payment to the original holder of Stephens at the time of sale

Hawthorne claims that Beaver never paid Richardson the money due on the mortgage but that Beaver and Richardson conspired together with intent to defraud Hawthorne of his rights

The questions for the Court below the defendants Shultz were to [illegible] as mortgagees and did not appear to be bona fide purchasers and answer denying that the defendant Gholson was a bona fide purchaser Hawthorne appeared and answered claiming that the defendant Gholson was a bona fide purchaser in California long prior to the commencement of the suit and that he was in possession of the premises claiming by virtue of the former sale on the foreclosure of the mortgage and demurred to that portion of the bill which set up the deeds of Shultz This demurrer was overruled and the case was tried on the other issues made below which resulted in a decree rendered in accordance with the prayer of Beaver complainant as above.

From this decree the defendant Hawthorne appealed assigning as errors

1st That the Court erred in striking out that portion of his answer asserting the defence of Statute of Limitations

2d That the Court erred in holding that the suit on the prior mortgage of Stephens barred Richardson of any right to the premises under his subsequent mortgage

3d The Supreme Court affirmed the decree of the Court below in each particular and held

1st That a mortgagee in foreclosing his mortgage need not make a junior mortgagee a party to his suit when a sale under such a decree will not affect his rights

2d A junior mortgagee has a right to proceed to foreclose and sell the property against the purchaser under such first sale, simply because the equitable assignee of the owner of the first mortgage holds a lien on the premises to that extent that is when the owner of the fee subject however to the lien of the junior mortgage not made a party, such junior mortgagee has the right to foreclose the equity of redemption but can be compelled to let the first mortgagee be redeemed but can proceed in the ordinary way to foreclose his mortgage

3d That Shultz having parted with the equity of redemption had no longer any interest in the premises and therefore was not a party to the suit Decree affirmed J H Mitchell for appellant

SUPREME COURT.—From the Statesman of Saturday October 2d:

Lorenzo Besser, respondent, vs. Cincinnatus Shultz, Mary Shultz and J. C. Hawthorne, appellants.

This was a suit to foreclose a mortgage. In June, 1858, Jerome B. Stephens sold Cincinnatus Shultz, the defendant, a block in East Portland, took a note for the purchase and a mortgage on the block to secure it. This mortgage was duly recorded, June 20, 1860. On the same day this mortgage was recorded the defendant executed to the respondent a note for $500, payable in two years with three per cent. per month, and gave him a second mortgage on the same premises to secure it. This last mortgage to Besser was recorded ten days after the Stephens mortgage. In November, 1859, Stephens foreclosed his mortgage, without making Besser a party to the suit. On this decree the premises were sold and bought in by Stephens, which sale was confirmed and Stephens went into possession under his Sheriff's deed, Shultz transferring to Stephens his equity of redemption. Subsequently Stephens sold the premises to Col. White, who after putting valuable improvements thereon, conveyed the same to this appellant, Hawthorne, who put valuable improvements thereon.

Besser whose note Shultz had never paid, brings this suit to foreclose his mortgage, claiming the right to have the premises sold and the proceeds applied:

1. To the payment to Hawthorne of the amount of the original bid of Stephens at the foreclosure sale, in 1859, together with interest.

2. To the satisfaction of Besser's note and interest, amounting to about $2,400.

3. The surplus, if any, to go to the appellant, Hawthorne.

In the Court below, the defendants, Shultz and wife, were defaulted as non-residents and did not appear. The plaintiff, Hawthorne, appeared and answered, first, alleging that the defendant, Cincinnatus Shultz, died in ... long prior to the commencement of this suit, and ... and obtaining a complete title to the ... by virtue of the former sale on the Stephens ... demurred to that portion of the answer which set up the death of Shultz. This the Court below sustained. The case was tried on the other issues and a decree rendered in accordance with the prayer of the complaint as above.

From this decree the defendant, Hawthorne, appealed, and assigns as errors

1st. That the Court erred in striking out that portion of the answer averring the death of Shultz.

2d. In not holding that the sale on the prior mortgage ... barred Besser of any claims to the premises under his subsequent mortgage.

The Supreme Court affirmed the decree of the Court below in each particular, and held:

1st. That a mortgagee in foreclosing his mortgage must make a junior mortgagee a party to his suit, otherwise ... under such a decree will not affect his right ... to foreclose and sell the premises again. That ... mortgagee, under such a decree, simply becomes the ... assignment of the claim of the first mortgagee, and ... lien on the premises to that extent; that he also ... the owner of the fee, subject, however, to the ... junior mortgage not made a party, and that ... junior mortgagee is not confined to the remedy of ... but is not compelled to resort to a bill in ... to redeem but can proceed in the ordinary way by ...

2d. That Shultz, having parted with his equity of re... and no longer any interest in the premises, and ... therefore, a necessary party to the suit.

Decree affirmed. H. Mitchell for respondent. J. H. ... for appellants.

FRESHEST GLEANINGS.

Iowa expects to gain three Representatives in Congress by the next apportionment.

Harvard has 577 undergraduates: 155 Fresh., 134 Sophs., 160 Juniors, and 128 Seniors.

A woman was brought in a wheelbarrow drunk, to the New Orleans police station the other night, her little children following, and her infant by her side.

Eastern Republican journals are sanguine that Pendleton will be beaten in Ohio, but some of them fear the loss of the Legislature on account of the great number of mixed and independent tickets in the field.

It is gratifying to learn that Secretary Boutwell strenuously opposes the increase of the whisky tax. Make it large enough and the profits of illicit sales will furnish a corruption fund, which experience teaches will be irresistible.

The colored citizens of Kansas are to hold a State Convention in Topeka on Wednesday, Oct. 26th, to organize for the coming campaign, in which they hope actively to participate, through the ratification of the proposed Fifteenth Amendment.

The Chicago Journal expresses the hope that if Miss Dorothy Dix goes West, as announced, on an errand of mercy, she will stop in Chicago and take a look into Cook County Jail, as the inmates, if not just now insane, probably will be by the time she gets there.

The Norfolk Journal trusts that "the old men of departed days" will realize that their power is gone, and that Virginia intends now to commit her destinies into the hands of her young sons, who are "able to do battle with the greatest that can be brought against them—aye, and overcome them in the fight."

R. M. T. Hunter in a letter to a Kentucky gentleman on Chinese immigration, says he does not regard this class of population desirable in Virginia or Kentucky, but thinks it may be of great service in the cotton, rice and sugar States. He is of opinion that the question will settle itself, under the law of self interest, irrespective of the views of politicians or the legislation of Congress.

From the examination into election frauds going on at Beverley, England, bribery appears to be "the regular thing." One witness states that he voted a all the parliamentary elections since 1847, and had been bribed at all but one or two. Richard Burton, another witness, who could speak from thirty to forty years' experience as a freeman, said he was not referred further back than 1845 when he thought half the town took bribes.

THE WEST.

Mountain City, Nevada, is to have a newspaper called the Weekly Six Shooter. An effective weapon against Confucious' adversaries.

A correspondent, writing from Arizona, says that at present the mines in the southern part of Nevada, and northern part of Arizona are far better than ever before, and next spring a large and permanent emigration may be looked for.

The Inland Empire learn from Wells, Fargo & Co's agent in Treasure City, that the shipment of bullion from that place, for the year ending September 15th, has amounted to $3,155,217 74. That paper thinks that next year's product will amount to $7,000,000.

The assessment roll of San Francisco for the current year has been made up, and foots up $100,344,595, and shows a gain in real estate amounting to six millions and a loss in personal property, the latter footing up $30,779,294, and the real estate $69,595,501.

Thomas Mooney publishes a letter in the San Francisco Caucassian, in which he gives the following reason why the Chinese should all be driven out of California: "They care nothing for your politics; use none of your physic; never go to law; drink no taxed liquor."

The Washington correspondent of the Providence Journal writes: The late Secretary Rawlins, a few weeks before his death, directed that the army stores from California for the use of the troops in in Arizona, should be sent by the way of Guaymas and Sonora, Mexico, instead of the old route by the Colorado and Gila rivers. The saving to the Government is nearly $100 in gold per ton, in time more than half, and in depreciation of the rations, caused by the intense heat of the desert, immense.

Southern Schemes of Chinese Immigration.

As the Oregon Herald promises in the next election in this State "a complete victory over the advocates of Chinese immigration," we copy the following from the New York Journal of Commerce (a Democratic paper) to show who they are over whom this victory is to be gained:

Among the recent movements for the importation of Chinamen that we have to chronicle, is the departure of a leading merchant of New Orleans for China, via New York and the overland route to San Francisco. He goes out as the representative of a number of New Orleans commercial houses, to establish an agency at Hongkong, Pekin or some other advantageous point. He will be accompanied by a Chinaman of experience in the business, and will visit the various agricultural districts of China, to find which will furnish the cheapest labor for the cotton and sugar fields of Louisiana. His first importation, to meet the expenses of which he and his correspondents are fully prepared, will be from 300 to 500 hands. Other Southern agents are already in China, and we may expect any day to publish a telegram of the arrival of their first consignment of labor at San Francisco.

TO HEBREW PARENTS—RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.—Dr. Eckman has commenced imparting religious instruction to the children of those parents who may be desirous of committing their children under the (almost paternal) care of a man whose truly religious character and simplicity have over most extraordinarily stamped his mind to that of simple childhood, and exercised a "magnetic" power over the juveniles brought within his influence which unregenerate minds can never acquire. The instructions will, till the new Synagogue will be completed, be given at the Washington Armory Hall, next building to the Portland Library. Till then, they will be given on the Sabbath and Holy days, after the close of the regular morning service.

By order of the President.

The Byron Story

THE LONDON 'TIMES' INDORSES MRS STOWE'S ARTICLE

[From the London Times of August 30th.]

THE TRUE STORY OF LADY BYRON'S LIFE.

An article under this title, written by Mrs Harriet Beecher Stowe, commences the September number of Macmillan's Magazine It will be read with world wide interest, for though forty five years have worn out the spell which once belonged to Byron's verse though criticism has dealt coldly and calmly with it, rejecting its meretricious sentiment and determining its sterling qualities, the man himself remains much the same as he was first pictured to us in Moore's biography and Macaulay's brilliant and pathetic essay To those who cannot rest content with an author's writings, but must concern themselves with his individuality, he is still the bean ideal of a poet He stands out from them all with his handsome face his susceptible and impetuous temperament, his sorrows and dissipations, his loves and hatreds Condemned at the bar of opinion as a dissolute man, of violent, uncontrolled passions, his misfortunes to this day have averted judgement By virtue of them he has, like his predecessor "the wicked Lord," claimed a benefit of clergy, and not got off scot free.

There is no doubt that Mrs Stowe's narrative will owe much of its universal interest to the fact that it gratifies the lowest kind of curiosity, but it was not written and ought not to be read with this end in view It is a late and necessary act of justice—of justice to the wife, clearing her from the accusations of cold heartedness and uncharitable prudery made so repeatedly during her life and since her death—and of justice on the husband, destroying at once and forever the romance which has so long been allowed to drape the falsehood and meanness of his character Leaving the present revelation out of the question, the fact that those interesting misfortunes which, at one time, the world delighted to weep over, were the natural consequences of the vices of their victim, has all along been clear enough, yet seldom, if ever has this been boldly insisted on, while in nearly every extant biographical notice of the poet and their name is legion—his wretchedness has been pleaded in mitigation of his errors.

His domestic quarrels have been discussed wherever English poetry is read, and the public forced reluctantly to take Lady Byron's part, has done so with the worst grace. To blame her, was, indeed, impossible, but it was easy to pity him, to coddle with his genius, thrown away on a woman who could not understand him; and paying dearly for his mistake. Men, and women, too, made haste to revile the cold and ungenerous pride, who left her husband to make what wreck he pleased of his life, when, by bearing with his faults, of the good wife of a great man ought to bear, she might have saved him from himself, and done the duty she owed no less to the world than to its poet

The public, however, has had some excuse for its too condemnation of the most devoted wife that ever sacrificed herself to an unworthy man, for Lady Byron never uttered a word in her own justification, and it only now, when she herself and all those whom the dreadful revelation would overwhelm are in their graves, that it is given to the world As it is, the seals of it would have remained unbroken, perhaps forever, were it not for the recent publication by Byron's mistress of a book reviving the old and threadbare calumnies against his wife, and referring his reckless indulgence and miserable life to the despair which took possession of him when he found himself abandoned by the woman on whom he rested his hopes of better things

Mrs. Stowe states fully her unimpeachable authority for the narrative laid before us When, as the authoress of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," she first came to England, she formed a friendship with Lady Byron; crossing the Atlantic a second time, in 1856, this was renewed and Mrs Stowe received one day an invitation, in which her friend "indicated that she wished to have some private conversation with her upon important subjects." Lady Byron, of delicate health for many years, had at that time been warned by her physicians that she had not long to live, she considered that the time had come when her long silence should at last be broken or when, at least, the means of breaking it should be placed in other hands than her own

The daylight has thus at last streamed in on the stage romance of Lord Byron's life, has struck the thin flesh and the dirty paint, and now the curtain may be dropped, and the play, still dragging on put an end to As far as Lord Byron himself is concerned, we do not regret it. Truth is truth, and we would sooner know him for what he was than to take him for what he might have been.

Sad it is beyond everything how black a mark is forever set against some of the most perfect poems—those to his half-sister Augusta in this, our mother tongue; but, horrible as is the guilt so now divulged, the unutterable meanness of the man is still more despicable When we learn that the author of Childe Harold not only ill-used his wife and turned her out of his house, but challenged her before the world to say a word against him, well knowing that her noble nature sealed her lips, and that he all the while kept her money, which she had scorned to secure to herself, to be the means of his debaucheries, we almost feel that we can never open his works again

German Gambling and American Tourists

The London Daily News says

"From many reports we learn that the gambling season in Germany has been more than usually brisk this year. There is quite a rush of dukes and other noblemen to the tables, while the sums lost to the bank have been high enough to give picturesque impulses to speculation to the outlying lots. It is, of course, an entire waste of sympathy to throw feeling away upon the feverish spendthrifts, or the cool dealers, who spend the summer time by the boards of green cloth, but we are concerned for the young ladies who are brought by their papas to look at the spectacles of the Kursaal Here Formosa without moral intents or tags, but confessedly sensible, without subdued lights or music in the orchestra, capricious of repentance, reformation and a new career Occasionally indulgent fathers will stake a little for their daughters, just to give them a taste of the agreeable wickedness of the game We certainly relax our straight laces when abroad Before now traveling counts used to discover this weakness but of late these gentry are eschewed by the Kicklebarys and the Doods

Yet strange acquaintances are occasionally made at the tables d hote or on the sides of mountains The latter may as a rule, be safely dropped upon the descent, the former as soon as possible after desert There is, however, an exception the American tourist, as a rule, is neither needy, disagreeable, nor over obtrusive. Writers who tell us otherwise, we believe have either been singularly unfortunate in their experience, or prejudiced without having any personal experience at all English families picking up with ladies and gentlemen from the States have seldom had cause to regret the accidental intimacies which may be formed, and which constantly tend to promote feelings of mutual respect and regard

But the public foreigner is still an object to be regarded abroad with caution unless he appr aches with an introduction The French are as exclusive as ourselves, especially at the time of the year when they know that persons of all classes from London go to the Continent The French who are not exclusive at that season the Parisians who will lay down their lives for you and yours after ten minutes' conversation on board a steamboat, are not the right people to consort with And yet how many of us shall hear on the return of our friends, of the charming fellows met abroad, and who dined with us, you know, in our private room almost every day' Credulous friends of this temper should bear in mind the extraordinary social enterprise of a Parisian waiter or man cook, and that numbers of these artists seek good fortunes and recreation among Les Anglais during their Summer or Autumnal holidays in Germany."

There is sometimes an advantage in being late, and two men found it so at Avondale last week It was a rule of the managers of the mine that any man arriving at the mouth of the shaft for the purpose of descending, after the bell had tolled seven, should not be allowed to work that day Monday morning two men came late, but only by a few minutes The person in charge of the cage refused to let them go down, at which they grumbled and sword, and threatened to be even one day with the unaccommodating official. They saved their lives by the means

The Tammany War

The Sacramento Union has the following observations on the war between the Democratic factions in New York

We can think of no fitter designation than the above to apply to the conflict going on between the Tweed and Belmont factions of the Democracy in New York The former represents Tammany Hall the latter the Manhattan Club The one has at command several millions of clear pickings and stealings out of the $25 000,000 yearly wrung from the city, the other has a long array of kid gloved aristocracy each provided with plethoric private purses and backed up by the inexhaustible Rothschilds among whom Belmont is a map and a brother It is difficult to say which can use the the most money but Tammany probably has the most muscle and the opponents must prevail by craft rather than by force There has already been a free interchange of compliments and calling of hard names and a confession of faults each for the other, which would be good for the soul if it came from the soul For example the World, Belmont's organ, charges Oakey Hall the Mayor and other Tammany managers, not only with the ordinary and laudable corruption but with a prodigious deal of illegal and scoundrelly ballot box stuffing last November The worst of this accusation is that it is true It will be remembered that ye gentle Tweed, grand sachem of Tammany, was the man who, by a secret circular instructed the Democratic canvassers throughout the State to adjourn him by telegraph as soon as they could of the result in their several districts The New York city canvassers were in like manner instructed to hold back their returns till instructed by Tweed how many Democratic votes were needed and thus it was that Seymour gloriously (?) carried his own State The thieves having fallen out this crime of theirs now stands confessed

On the other hand Tammany charges Belmont and his fellow kids of the Manhattan, with having tried to slaughter Seymour in the interest of the national creditors It is even alleged that Belmont acted under instructions from Rothschild, and that the proposal of the World after the October elections, that Seymour and Blair should give way for a new ticket was deliberately intended to demoralize the party and elect Grant, thus securing an Administration with which the national debt would be secure Belmont is accused of assenting himself from the city at critical moments, of neglecting his duties as chief of the National Executive Committee, and of general apathy in the cause and even of secret treason to the party.

The particular form taken by this contest, then, is an effort to substitute Tweed for Belmont as head manager of the party Its general significance, however, is much greater and more important It means nothing less than an inauguration of repudiation as the next 'great Democratic principle." A year ago Brick Pomeroy prophesied this A month ago Emerson Etheridge said that in less than two years repudiation would be the doctrine announced from every forum by candidates' Pendleton advocates it on the stump in Ohio The Democratic masses in New York care as little for the debt as the rebels of the South, and Tweed and other unscrupulous corruptionists, knowing this very well, deem themselves able to carry the State upon the Pendleton platform as well as upon any other The beauty of the plan is that while it deludes the West with the fallacies of inflation and professed riddance of taxation, it unites the South in hope of securing compensation for war losses and for slaves, which can be rightfully demanded upon the Democratic theory that the Thirteenth Amendment is void, and will be granted when we are relieved from the "unconstitutional" war debt of the Radicals. Another and of itself sufficient reason for the assumption of this repudiation issue is that the party really has no other to go upon Etheridge read the signs of the times, correctly when he prophesied that this is to be the Democratic platform in 1872.

A Forcible Statement

Richard Smith, editor of the Cincinnati Gazette, recently made a speech in Preble county, Ohio, in which he thus discussed the Democratic proposition to tax Government securities

Suppose the Government should tax the bonds, how many of them are held in the United States? There are between eleven and twelve hundred millions of our securities now in Europe, leaving about eight or nine hundred millions of them in the United States, and the large proportion of these are held by the Treasurer of the United States as securities for national bank circulation Well now what would you make if you were to put a tax of one per cent. upon them? Suppose you were to grab one per cent upon the bonds that are held abroad, when the interest is due, you deduct one half per cent from the semi annual interest, which would make one per cent per annum That would amount to $20 000 000 a year and your Government would stand in Europe in odious credit That act would be regarded there as repudiation, just as much as you, my friends, any one of you, that gave your note and agreed to pay eight per cent interest upon it, and deducted from it one per cent and two per cent. because you might have the power to do it, but not the legal right That is just the light in which it would be regarded, and the Democratic party would bring dishonor upon the nation

I tell you you cannot afford to do it for $20 000 000 a year You can't afford to do it for $200,000 000 a year You can't afford to do it at all

The Duke of Edinburgh, who is moving round the world in the Galatea, continues to give opportunity for severe criticism, and some of it really deserves criticism, too We spoke last week of his unlucky Australian gifts Now some of these same Australians are, more cruelly, charging him with having left them without paying certain little private debts he had contracted among his mother's loyal colonial subjects This surprises the English at home, and provokes their indignation, for they say the Prince is very particular and methodical about such matters, and that he is really a "square young fellow" The Australians complain, also, of his frivolity and impertinence. These latter qualities he seems to have displayed also at the Sandwich Islands, where he provoked criticism by asking the King to have performed before him a certain indecent native dance, and he enjoyed the Hawaiian cancan hugely His conduct toward the French authorities and the officers of our Kearsarge, it is said, was so discourteous as to provoke the indignation of even the English residents Young man, beware Even Princes how a days must mind their manners And remember that the hold of royalty, such expensive royalty as that of England, too, is not so strong upon your native land as it might be or as it was once Prince Arthur who continues to be kindly received in Canada, has not yet stumbled into the pitfalls of his royal brother. He seems to be a discreet young man —Army and Navy Journal

WOOL AND THE TARIFF —The New York Times closes an elaborate article on wool and protection as follows

In the United States census return of 1860, it is stated that the yield of wool was 2 88 100 lbs per sheep and as the number of sheep was 22 471 275 the weight of wool was 60 213 017 lbs This was less than two pounds to each person in the United States, as the population was 31,443 322 We ought to produce 150 000 000 pounds of wool a year and this would be no less than four pounds to each person in the United States The number of sheep in France in 1866 was 281,592 and if the product was the same here per sheep as here, the number of pounds of wool was 50 346,666 a fraction over 2 pounds 100 pounds to each inhabitant in France The imports of wool into France in 1865, amounted to 147 000 000 francs in 1863 to only 68 000 000 francs The exports of woolens of all kinds have followed the same rapid course having risen from 100 000 000 francs in 1853 to 295 000,000 francs in 1865 French wools are principally used for women's dresses New York Ohio Illinois Iowa and California produced more wool this year than the entire yield was in the United States in 1860 and under the stimulus of protection and greater care in breeding sheep with reference to the quality of wool most suitable for our manufactures together with the increase in the weight of the fleece per sheep, we have become the largest wool producing country in the world and, if our law makers would not put the knife to the throats of 20 000 000 of sheep they will not interfere with the duty on wool

The Minnesota Republicans nominated a Swede for Secretary of State The candidate Hans Mattson, was put forward by the Scandinavian Convention, which met a few weeks ago, as their representative man.
